

STUDENT DEGREE CHANGE

Students enrolled in the osteopathic medicine, podiatric medicine, physical therapy, physician assistant, occupational therapy or Ph.D. in Biomedical Science programs must comply with the following if they desire to seek admission and enrollment in a different clinical program at the institution.

1. The student must submit a written withdrawal notice to the Dean of the program in which they are currently enrolled prior to applying for admission into the subsequent program. Prior to withdrawing from the original program, the student may be required to meet with the Dean for an exit interview.
2. The student must meet the admission criteria for the program in which they desire to enroll.
3. The student must complete all admission procedures, at which time an admission decision will be determined.

Please note these items do not apply to students who are interested in pursuing the dual degree program as described within the Academic Catalog.
